HARRY V. JAFFA

Harry Jaffa is a leading political philosopher and among the most influential scholars on Abraham Lincoln. His classic Crisis of the House Divided is a study of the Lincoln-Douglas debates that examines closely Lincoln's defense of the principles of the American Founding and Union. His recent sequel to that work, A New Birth of Freedom, explores further the basis for American republican government. His other books include Thomism and Aristotelianism, The Conditions of Freedom, How to Think About the American Revolution, and Original Intent and the Framers of the Constitution: A Disputed Question. Jaffa is a Distinguished Fellow of the Claremont Institute for the Study of Statesmanship and Political Philosophy, and the Henry Salvatori Research Professor in Political Philosophy, Emeritus 1989, at Claremont McKenna College and the Claremont Graduate School.

EDWARD J. ERLER, Interviewer

Edward Erler is a Senior Fellow at the Claremont Institute and a Professor of Political Science at California State University, San Bernardino. From 1983 to 1984, Dr. Erler served as director of the bicentennial programs at the National Endowment for the Humanities, and is currently a member of the California Civil Rights Commission. He is the author of The American Polity.
